

Conversations with Executives

The Orfalea College of Business Executives in Residence program is proud to bring Conversations with Executives to Cal Poly's campus. Executives in Residence are business leaders, innovators and entrepreneurs that spend time with our students and faculty to share their unique insights on their field and how they've earned their success. The executives, including many of our own alumni, can provide current students with a relatable perspective on how their Cal Poly degree prepared them for challenging, dynamic careers that lay ahead. Faculty will also bolster their understanding of current industry trends as they shape their curriculum to empower career-ready graduates. Through class lectures, faculty round tables and campus tours, the executives will get to know Cal Poly today, seeing first hand how Learn by Doing breeds success in the Orfalea College of Business.
